Large Tobacco Sales Made By Co-operative

Eight important sales of tobacco running into the millions of pounds and orders for future deliveries received by the Tobacco Growers' Co operative Association, were announced today by the leaf department of the big co-operative.

So successful has the association been in its first sales that South Carolina growers will receive cash advances on revised valuation and the members who have already delivered their tobacco in South Carolina will receive the benefit of this revision, and their share of increasing profits at the final settlement.

The sales of leaf dealers and manufacturers have been so large that the second distribution of cash payments for deliveries will be made to the South Carolina members of the association just as soon as the sufficient amount is collected to take another substantial cash advance in the near future.

More than 3,000,000 pounds of tobacco were delivered again this week to the co operative warehouses of the South Carolina belt the workers' association is now urging all its members to make deliveries in view of the demand for their tobacco.

Enthusiasm for the new method of marketing is on the increase and many farmers who failed to join the association this year have expressed their wish to sign up next year's crop.

Steady deliveries continue throughout Eastern North Carolina, where general satisfaction with the new marketing method and the cash advances is being voiced by members of the co-operative. Hundreds of new members from Western North Carolina signed the marketing contract this week following the opening of the association warehouses in the East and the enthusiastic meetings held at many points throughout the old belt.

Oliver J. Sands, general manager of the Growers' Co-operative Marketing Association, addressed the citizens of Roxboro and farmers of Person county here this evening.

Mr. Sands is a business man and spoke in plain terms as one would expect from a business man. It was just the address the people of this section here wanted to hear for there have been so many reports and rumors that some of the signers had begun to feel a little uneasy over the situation, but after Mr. Sands' speech there was nothing but optimism.

The courtroom, one of the largest auditoriums in the town was full to overflowing standing room being at a premium and for two hours his hearers followed him with rapt attention. It was what might well be termed a 100 per cent co operative crowd for the few who were not members signed before leaving the room. It was indeed a good day for the co-operative association and the speech will long be remembered by those who heard it.

Mr. Sands was not abusive giving those who preferred to stay out of the association the same right accorded those who had joined in the great work being done by the association. He made it plain that the association was well prepared to care financially for all tobacco pledged and showed that even the independents were feeling the benefits of the association in the prices which tobacco is bringing this season.

This (Person) county, is one of the strongholds of the associations. Probably 80 per cen having joined the associationt and with three warehouse and ample redrying facilities Roxboro is destined to be one of the largest and best delivery points.

Farmers Now Enjoying Fruits

Close to one million pounds of tobacco were delivered to the Cooperative markets of Eastern North Carolina last week at their opening, according to latest returns which describe heavy deliveries at Washington, New Bern, Richlonds, Kingston and other big receiving centers where the sign up of the Cooperative is particularly heavy.

Rejoicing, prayer and thanks giving featured the day in a score of markets when the long cherished hope of the farmer to control the marketing of his own product in a fair, orderly and profitable way, because at last a reality following years of struggle and organization.

Three farmers en-route to Wilson, with tobacco from Cumberland county were invited to visit to Cooperative ware house at Smithfield. So pleased were they with the table of advances and the system of Cooperative sales, that they drove their loads of tobacco into the Association warehouse signed the contract and returned to Cumberland county, enthusiastic members of the Association, with their first advance in cash, their participation receipts and the knowledge that they will receive further payments and the highest dollar for each pound of tobacco which they left with the Association

Members of the Association are being urged to save their fodder and crops and to deliver at their convenience and in an orderly manner, and satisfaction is being expressed on all sides by those who do not feel obligated to rush their tobacco to market and do not find it necessary to drive long distances to secure the highest price.

Prospective Bidders Go Over New Canton Hill Road

An engineer from the highway department met a number of prospective bidders for the New Canton Hill road project here last week, and showed the contractors over the route which was let to contract on August 24th. This road extends from New Canton nearly to James river, and will be a link in route No. 2, state and national highway, to extend eventually from Raleigh to Washington. It will be of bituminous macadam and will be built according to the highest modern standards. It will connect the fine road system of Buckingham county with the improved highway of southern Fluvanna which will shortly be extended north from Fork Union, possibly to Palmyra and beyond. This road, with the exception of a link between Gold Hill and Dillwyn, now extends from New Canton to Farmville and thence improved practically to the North Carolina line. It is already extensively traveled by tourists and others.—News.

Buckingham

It has been decided that there will be no term of the Circuit Court held here in September.

Judge Hundley has appointed W. W. Haskins as Justice of the Peace in James River district to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. John B. Horseley.

Rev. Mr. Stimson has been conducting a revival meeting at Glenmore church the past week. At same time a meeting was going on at Antiock church with Dr. Taylor doing the preaching, but he was called away and Rev. Mr. Saddler continued the meeting.

Beginning Sunday there will be services at the Presbyterian church here during the week.

Williams & Miller seem to be getting all the grinding they can do at their new mill here.

No one ever saw a more beautiful crop of melons indeed seldom have we ever seen a more seasonable crop year.

People still investing in Government securities on which there is no tax. $80 buys a $100 bond payable in five years and you can buy these bonds at your post office.

Henry Simpson is carrying the R. F. D. mail from Mantoe and if D. W. Patteson decides to give up the route I shall endorse Mr. Simpson as (a patron of the route) for appointment.

The cutting of tobacco is going on and fires are readily being run in the tobacco barns.

The association men are in high hopes of making a success of the new plan of handling and selling tobacco.

Young ladies who had certificates that went out of date this year and who did not attend the summer normals are trying to get permits to teach on, State Superintendent Hart has sent notice to Division Superintendents not to issue any permits as there are more teachers applying for schools than there are schools to be taught.

Mr. Henry C Groseclose is back from Blacksburg where he had a very difficult course of study to complete in such a short time.

The prices of timber and rail road ties have advanced and business is active along these lines.

Mr. and Mrs. John Coston motored here from their home in North Carolina and are guests in the home of John G. Glover.

Mr and Mrs. Thomas B Hall took their little girl, Ruth Ellie, to Lynchburg the past week to have her tonsils removed.

Mrs E. Bondurant does not expect to come to "Variety Shade", her old home this year. Miss Emily Harris, a grand daughter of Mrs. Bondurant will be married early in September.

Miss Marian Forbes after visiting relatives in Lynchburg is spending this week with Mrs. P. P. Glover.

Misses W. Glover and Eliza Haskins are expected home from Farmville normal this week after having spent eleven weeks there

Our friends, the enemy are making an effort to nominate a candidate for Congress in the 10th district, wonder who in the G O. P. will accept the empty honor.

I saw an old man walking up to the house of two single ladies who were looking at him and it was wonderful how much better he walked than usual. No trace of the usual rheumatism.

Some cattle dealer would do well to come out about six miles from Manteo, where he can buy a nice bunch of fat cattle at reasonable prices.

Wildwood

Mrs. Kate Cheatham from Rustburg, is visiting relatives here.

Mrs. Charlie Fore is on the sick list.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Taylor and little daughter are here from W. Va., visiting at the home of Mr. C. E Taylor and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Davis, of Burkeville, spent the week-end in the home of J S. Dinkins.

Mrs. J. C. Staples and daughter, Mabel, W. J. and F. P Glover were guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. E F. Glover, last week.

The Rocke church revival was very much enjoyed by all last week—good searmons were heard every day and night.

Mr. and Mrs Clarence Evans spent Sunday with home people here.

Miss Susie Evans expects to accept a position as sales lady in a store in Lynchburg soon.

The community is being very much disturbed over moonshining

Tree Seeds by No Means Alike.

Tree seeds vary greatly in the amount of time they take before they sprout. Seeds of the Kentucky coffee tree must lie in the ground at least two years before their hard coats are sufficiently softened to allow the sprout to escape, while cottonwood seeds die within a few hours if they do not fall on favorable soil.

Ivory Nut.

There are two species of palms producing nuts hard enough to be employed as a substitute for ivory in the manufacture of small articles of domestic use, but the one best known to commerce under the name of ivory nut is the fruit of Phytelephas macrocarpa, native of New Granada and other parts of Central America.

Etiquette of Sealing Wax.

In the days when all correspondence was sealed, there was etiquette about the use of sealing wax. Royalty would give some favorite courtier the sole right to use a certain colored wax, and officers of the state would each have distinguished colors, in much the same way as staff officers of the army wear colored "tabs" nowadays.

For Sister.

At the Madison Avenue branch library a little boy was looking for an interesting book and seemed to be having a hard time finding one that appealed to him. At last he brought to the desk "Wanted: A Husband," saying, "I guess I'll take this home to my sister. That's what she's looking for."—Indianapolis News.

Must Be Handled Cautiously.

If radium were as plentiful and as easily obtained as gold everybody might have a little of it in thick lead boxes to protect themselves against its dangerous rays, which it never ceases to give off until in some thousands of years it exhausts itself, having turned into something else.

Classifying Youthful Visitor.

One day a caller brought her small son, who had evidently never been taught to obey, and the pleasure of the visit was much marred. As the guests walked away Anita stood looking after them and, in a disapproving tone, said: "He certainly is the worsted minder I ever saw."

The True Poem.

Some people imagine that any fine thought is poetry, but there was never a greater mistake. A fine thought, to become poetry, must be seasoned in the upper warm garrets of the mind for long and long, then it must be brought down and slowly carved into words, polished with love. Else it is no true poem.—David Grayson.

Can Draw Salary, Anyway.

The office of British prime minister pays no salary, but the man who holds that office can make himself any sort of minister he wishes, such as chancellor of the exchequer, which pays $25,000.

"Strong and Well"

"I WISH you could know how much I am improved since taking the Cardui," writes Mrs. Nannie Brown, of Black Rock, Ark. "You wouldn't know me for the same weak invalid I was before I took it. At my . . . I had to keep off my feet or I would fall. I couldn't do my housework, and just got where I'd most as lief be dead as living. Some one told my husband of Cardui. He got it for me and I took three bottles before I stopped—then off and on for the last three years just as a tonic. I saw a decided improvement after my first bottle. I used the three, and was able to do my work with ease, and now I sew for my family and for others. I am feeling fine, and strong and well."

Take Cardui It may be just the medicine you need.

Short-Term Investments That Are Safe

Satisfactory short-term investments in the shape of stocks and bonds are not readily found. Most of the choice securities have a number of years to run.

However, there is one security that we can recommend without any reservation whatever to those having funds for short-term investment—our interest-bearing Certificates of Deposit.

Any amount from $1.00 up can be invested with the assurance of absolute safety and for such time as is desired. They will be found just as satisfactory for long-term as for short-term investment.

One-fourth of the wheat we grow is the result of the researches of the Government. After years of untiring experiment and investigation, the Government, through the Department of Agriculture, was enabled to introduce into this country the remarkable Durum wheat through which our production has been increased fully twenty-five per cent. This has been only one of many surprising but little-known accomplishments of the Government, which are covered in the interesting series of stories for which we have the exclusive right of distribution in this community.

Brothers and Sisters of Hardy Family Reunion

Last Wednesday the children of the late Thos. J. Hardy and Lucy E Cheatlle met at "Bloomfield", in Appomattox county, the old home of the family, and present home of T Hardy. The family reunion was one of marked success All the children were there in number, all apparently in good health. This was the first time in 36 years that they had all been together and with each child's family could be present, four of them and those of T. T. Hardy, J. A. Hardy, K. S. Hardy, and Rosa J. Megginson. Three of the sisters have grandchildren Mrs Lucy H. Hubbard, Mrs L. Jennings and Mrs. C. Abbitt. Two of these were present.

T. T. Hardy was toastmaster and the responses were given in a few well chosen words by his sister, Elmonia Hardy.

Besides the family a number near relatives and close friends were present to share the happiness of the occassion. A beautiful dinner was served picnic style The fine watermelons, cantaloupes and other farm products attested the wonderful upkeep of the homestead.

After photographs were taken of the original family group their families, the crowd repaired to the parlor, where music and singing were enjoyed for a while. The reading of "The Old Maid" was rendered by Caroline Hardy After a few social chats and the swapping of a few past experiences in the old home the sisters and brothers visited the graves of their beloved parents placing flowers thereon The family then separated with goodbyes and departed to their respective homes
